

FASHION

Tech, Yeah!

Clubs and balls aren't the only golf products pushing technology. Clockwise, from bottom left: GoLite cobalt and olive DriMove tees ($40), Izod G skort ($64) and Transformer jacket ($110) all use Cocona fabrics, which tap coconut-based Natural Technology to provide evaporative cooling, UV protection and odor control (coconainc.com); SkirtSports ultra-sleek pink skort ($64), here with white tee ($39), has built-in compression mesh shorts, moisture-management lining, music port and "tummy-tuck" waistband (skirtsports.com); Newton Women's Cure Distance ($160) and Men's Cushion Racer ($155) mold to your sole, promoting a forefoot impact (newtonrunning.com); for a treat in the heat, try heat-resistant Backpackers Weatherproof Gourmet Orange Chili Gourmet Chocolate ($9.95, hammondscandies.com); the Swiss-made Serket Reef Diver 2.0 with sapphire crystal and two distinguished bands ($999) is water-resistant to 328 yards—or a recordable par-four (serketwatch.com). —Jenny Baker-Strasburg

PHOTOGRAPH BY: MARC PISCOTTI/STYLED BY JENNY BAKER-STRASBURG